Slice of Life Edmonton - local Pizza Blog!

@ STEEL WHEELS PIZZA (8430 Gateway Blvd.)

what?

Weird Canada [weirdcanada.com] is yet another music blog. It focuses on the bubbling Canadian underground existing outside of nowhere and heard by few. Simple lay-out, short reviews, and streaming music; a quaint view into DIY Canadiana.

Slice of Life Edmonton [sliceoflifeedmonton.wordpress.com] is a local pizza blog. It is Edmonton's only pizza blog. There is no need to explain further; the ubiquity of pizza takes care of everything.

There is nothing tying them together. Weird Canada and Slice of Life Edmonton's only commonality stems from a desire to highlight the obscure and unknown. Pizza? Music? Everyone loves them. But do they love their local and independent counterparts?

Thursday. July 23. Both blogs will be leaping into the digital world. Pizza and music? Hosted by Steel Wheels (Edmonton's most unique pizza experience) with the aural stylings of a ramshackle of traveling and local bands. Be there or be a square-cut pizza.

Holzkopf

[Vancouver, BC] A prevailing leader in heavy-dance, harsh-noise, improvised ghetto-tech and pedal-mashing. Easily one of the most engaging performers in Canada, Holzkopf steers clear of the laptops, opting for pedals and drum machines to bombard listeners with the rawest dance-crunch they've ever heard. http://holzkopf666.googlepages.com

Feral Children

[Saskatoon, SK] Drum machine pscyhedelia permeates Feral Children's ether as he conjures his lysergic mix of lo-fi guitar pop, lo-tech electro, and hi-brow emotional bellowing. A one-man wizard of inter-genre insanity. Saskatoon holds many secrets... http://www.myspace.com/feralinchildren

GOBBLE GOBBLE

[Edmonton, AB] Frantic low-bit super-pop made with fluorescent masks, glow-in-the-dark paint, wine bottles, alarm bells, fiber-optic thingies you see at hockey games, and love. Love is important; you will love GOBBLE GOBBLE. 10,000% guaranteed. http://www.myspace.com/leatherjowels

Sans AIDS [Edmonton, AB] One-third of Edmonton's Outdoor Miners ventures into one-man band territory armed with a guitar and two kick-drums (Except one is actually a snare). The best lo-fi pop Edmonton has to offer.

[Edmonton, AB] Guided by lo-fi, swwords follows the path to a heightened awareness of all things pop. After spending time with cassette drummers and slow songs, they've emerged faster; a human being now behind the kick-and-snare.
